Dr Donna Wheatley, leading workplace and education strategist, joins WMK

Dr Donna Wheatley, award-winning international workplace and education strategist, has joined WMK.

Donna believes that workplace design should motivate individuals and promote their aspirations to ensure the success of the organisation, and that education environments should inspire life-long learning.

Living and studying in Australia, Finland and Germany, and with a PhD from the University of Sydney, Donna has worked with architectural firms BVN and Warren & Mahoney as well as lecturing at top-tier universities. She has led the design of leading-edge, large-scale commercial, workplace, education and master planning projects for clients such as PwC, Air New Zealand, Medibank, Minter Ellison, and University of NSW.

With her vast experience and in her role as Head of Workplace & Education Strategy, Donna will lead and expand WMK's strategy capabilities in these sectors.

"A big point of difference for WMK has always been our strategic thinking. Donna's immense experience and capabilities will add even further value to our clients and their strategic needs," said WMK Managing Director, Greg Barnett.

WMK has delivered leading-edge workplace and education projects for clients such as CBRE, ANZ, HCF, ASICS, Panasonic, Sydney University, UTS, and the multi-award-winning and highly innovative Northern Beaches Christian School. Donna will lead the strategy for workplace and education projects for WMK's current and future clients.
